EAT BOILED HAM; MANY TAKE SICK

Eleven People Become Violently Ill
After Eating Cold Meat
During Day.

ALL PATIENTS ARE IMPROVING

Physicians Believe Stale Ham is the Cause of Acute Ptomaine Poisoning.

Whether or not cold boiled ham caused eleven people in Rushville to suffer severely with acute ptomaine poisoning yesterday evening and late last night, physicians are unable to determine, but it is the consensus of opinion that the ham was the cause of the trouble. Many of the patients were very sick today, but physicians report that all of the victims will recover.

It is a strange coincidence that all eleven of the people ate cold boiled ham some time yesterday and that all of them took sick last night with practically the same symptoms. One physician who had five of the cases is not certain that cold ham is the cause of the trouble, but he says that every one of his patients ate it. Another doctor who had two cases says he is certain that cold ham was the cause for the attack of the poisoning.

One physician declares that the cold ham was old and for that reason caused the acute cases to develop. He says that he is certain local butcher shops have had some stale ham which they have foisted on their customers in order to save a waste that might be entailed by throwing it away. One physician says that one of his patients complained of having a salty taste in his mouth. He ascribes that to the fact that the butchers have salted the stale ham in order to keep it as long as possible. Physicians say that it is a dangerous practice and that if any more cases developed from the same source an investigation should follow.

The fact that the cases last night were similar to the ones at the Gates home a few weeks ago led physicians to suspect at once that cold ham had been the cause. An investigation showed that every one of the patients had eaten boiled ham. Mr. and Mrs. Gates ate boiled ham the time they were seriously ill. Their son ate none and he was not ill. For that reason it was thought that the ham was the reason for the malady.

One physician who was called last night said that everyone of his patients ate boiled ham yesterday, but that some of them, he found, had eaten other things which might have caused the sickness. He admits, however, that it is strange that only those who ate boiled ham should become suddenly ill.

A physician was called to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Casady in West Ninth street late last night. Both husband and wife were sick, although Mr. Casady suffered most from the pain. They both ate boiled ham for supper. Mr. Casady attended the revival meeting last night and was not sick until he returned home. He was in bed this morning, but was somewhat improved.

Tom Felts of North Jackson street was taken suddenly ill last night and a doctor was called. He ate ham for supper, too. Other members of the family ate a small bit of it, but were not noticeably affected. He was better today.

Alva Newhouse and son Byron were taken violently ill with the same symptoms as the other patients last night and a physician was called. They suffered great pain during the night, but were somewhat improved this morning. They had eaten cold boiled ham for supper.

Mrs. Don Casady became ill very suddenly last night and it was some time before the attending physician could relieve her from the intense pain which she suffered. She had boiled ham for supper but ate other things which might have caused her illness.

Adolphus Cameron, who was taken suddenly ill yesterday afternoon while working near Henderson, ate cold boiled ham for dinner. The attending physician is disposed to believe that the ham did not cause the trouble although he is not certain that is the case.

Miss Bertha Dinwiddie, a domestic at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Wolcott at the corner of Fourth and Perkins street, was taken violently ill last midnight. She, too, had eaten cold boiled ham. She was only slightly improved this morning.

The young son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Kitchen ate cold boiled ham last night. He was very sick and a doctor was called. The doctor believes that the ham was the cause of his illness.

Two young women were taken sick last night after they had eaten cold boiled ham for supper. Both cured themselves with home remedies and neither one called a physician.

WILL GIVE PLAY TUESDAY

"Ameta, The Little Rebel," to be Produced.

The performance of "Ameta, the Little Rebel," the play which was written by William H. Ball, a former resident of this city, will be given at the German House in Indianapolis on Tuesday night, June 13. The play was postponed because of the death of a relative of one of the principals. The production is staged to establish a fund for the widows and orphans of the Spanish-American war veterans. Mr. Ball, the author will play the part of Captain Jack Wallace, a soldier in the United States army.

M'MILLIN COMES BACK TO THIS CITY

Man Who Was Arrested in Arlington
Says His Wife Would Not Appear Against Him.

WORK OF OUTSIDE PARTIES

Albert J. McMillin of Lafayette, who was arrested in Arlington Tuesday night by a deputy sheriff from Tippecanoe county, was released from custody and returned to this city last night. The police here were surprised to see him back so soon as twenty-four hours had hardly elapsed since his arrest. McMillin told the local officers that his arrest was caused by detectives and others who held a grudge against him and when arraigned in Lafayette his wife, whom he was supposed to have beaten up, would not appear against him and did not want him punished. If McMillin did attack his wife as the deputy sheriff said, it would be necessary for her to appear against him and this she refused to do, so he says. The local police seem to believe there is something back of the whole proceeding for there is a certain air of mystery which has not been explained. McMillin says he never deserted his wife, but does not deny that he struck her.

FELL FROM BICYCLE.

The little son of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Trobaugh who was injured in a fall from a bicycle on which he and his father were riding, is rapidly recovering. They were riding down Boena Vista Avenue when in some manner the seat became unfastened causing them to fall.

MURDER CASE TO BE TRIED HERE

Henry Osborn of Connersville, Implicated in Killing of Rupert Chrisman, Takes Change of Venue.

WILL BE HEARD IN SEPTEMBER

Fayette County Also Sends Two Other Suits to This County For Trial.

The Rush county circuit court at the September term will hear the evidence in a murder case. The case is that of the State vs. Henry Osborn, sent here yesterday from Fayette county on a change of venue. Osborn is charged with murder in the second degree.

Osborn, while acting as a constable went with the Connersville chief of police, Ed Lewis, on the night of April 29, to arrest Rupert Christman, who lived north of the city. Christman saw the men coming and started to run. Lewis and Osborn fired at the man, two shots taking effect. Christman died the next day. He was wanted by the police for several robberies that he was supposed to have been implicated in.

It is not known which of the men fired the fatal shot, but it is said that Lewis hit him in the small of the back and as this was the most dangerous of the two, he probably died from its effect. Lewis and Osborn were arrested on the same charge and were released on $7500 bond. Lewis will probably be tried in Fayette county.

Two other cases were sent to this county from the Fayette circuit court. One of them is considered a rather important one. It is the claim suit of Henry Maurer against the estate of Margaret Shields. The complaint has not been received here yet, but it is known that Mrs. Shields was one of the wealthy women of that county and the case will be watched with interest. The third case sent here is that of the State vs. Claire Curry. Curry is under arrest for a serious offense.

WOULD IMPROVE A ROAD

175 in Walker Township Ask Commissioners to Build Roadway.

A petition to improve what is known as the Rushville and Shelbyville gravel road in Walker township has been filed in the auditor's office and will be considered by the commissioners at their regular meeting in July. The petition contains the names of one hundred and seventy-five voters of the township. It is said that the road needs improving more than any other one in the county. The petitioners ask for a stone layer covered with gravel.

POLICE BUSY.

The police were kept busy last night at the tabernacle preventing buggies and automobiles from stopping in the alley south of the building, and causing a congestion of traffic. Many people in buggies wanted to stop on the outside of the tabernacle and hear the sermon, but the police made them all move along and will not permit rigs to remain in the alley during the services.

The eight-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Rash Webb, living west of the city, was severely injured about noon today, when a colt kicked him in the head and inflicted a deep wound.

BUILDING MAY BE IMPROVED

Odd Fellows Plan to Convert Old
One Into a Modern Structure.

IS CONSIDERED AT MEETING

Second Floor to be Changed Into Office Rooms and Third Floor Into Lodge Home.

If plans materialize, the three-story building at the southwest corner of Main and Second streets will be converted into one of the most modern and stylish looking buildings in the city. It is the plan of the Odd Fellows lodge to so remodel it that it will become one of the best and most modern structures in the city.

The plan for remodeling the building was brought up at the Odd Fellows meeting last night, but not put to a vote. It is probable that the question will be decided by ballot next Wednesday evening. The proposed plan is in keeping with the idea which the members of the lodge have had for some time, concerning the erection of a new lodge home. If it is decided to improve the present building, the lodge home will not be erected.

Many Odd Fellows were opposed to the plan last night and it was for that reason that it was not put to a vote. It is thought that the plan would have been defeated had a ballot been taken. Many were opposed to it. The vote was postponed for a week so that the members of the lodge could be given more time to consider the improvement.

It is the plan to stucco the whole exterior of the building so that it will have the appearance of the Lon Link building in Main street, in which the Kelley grocery is located. This would give it the appearance of being a stone building. The work, according to the present plans, would be done by the Odd Fellows and the Rush County National bank.

It is a part of the plans to lower the walls and roof about 10 feet. The third floor would be lowered about the same distance. It would be rearranged inside and still be used for a lodge room by the Odd Fellows. It was said by a member of the lodge that the decorations in the lodge room will cost one thousand dollars if the plan is carried out.

It is planned to convert the second floor into six suites of modern offices. Solid walls would be built and the floor made modern and convenient in every respect. It is said that the windows would be built up so that the buildings would have a modern appearance. Gas, electricity, water and toilet rooms will all be supplied on the office floor.

Such an improvement would greatly improve the appearance of the business district. It is thought that the Odd Fellows will vote favorably when the members have given due consideration to the plan.

MARRIED HERE.

Greensburg News: Miss Hannah Davis, daughter of George Davis of Letts Corner, a well known and highly estimable young woman of this county, went to Rushville Wednesday, where at 11 o'clock she was united in marriage to Michael Brown, a wealthy farmer of Fayette county, living a few miles out of Connersville. Mr. and Mrs. Brown will make their home on his farm in Fayette county.

THE WEATHER

Unsettled with showers tonight or Friday. Warmer tonight.

WATER STANDS IN FIELDS

Farmers Say Hard Rains Hit Southern Part of County.

Farmers living in the southern part of the county say that it is impossible to work in the fields there on account of the heavy rains in that vicinity in the last few days. They report that after the rain of Tuesday evening water was standing one foot deep in some fields. It is thought that they will not be able to do any work before the end of this week. So far Rushville has escaped all of the hard rains and electrical storms that have passed near here.

COUNTY SURVEYOR STRICKEN AT WORK

Adolphus Cameron is in Serious Condition as the Result of Internal Hemorrhage From Stomach.

IS REPORTED BETTER TODAY

Adolphus Cameron, county surveyor and city civil engineer, was suddenly stricken while working near Henderson yesterday afternoon and is now in a very serious condition at his home at 220 North Perkins street. He suffered an internal hemorrhage which was considered very dangerous at the time. Mr. Cameron rested well during the night and this morning he was reported to be much better.

Mr. Cameron was preparing plans for a road improvement when he was suddenly taken ill. He was hurriedly brought to this city and taken to Dr. Frank H. Green's office. The physician worked with him for some time to stop the flow of blood. It is thought that the internal hemorrhage was caused by an ulcer in his stomach.

BELIEVE HE IS A BASE BALL PHENOM

Fans Say Peck Ormes of Near Homer is so Speedy no Catcher Can Hold Him.

PREDICT A FUTURE FOR HIM

Followers of the national game believe that a real "phenom" is yet to be uncovered in this county. There lives near Homer a youth named Peck Ormes, who is reputed to have so much speed that few catchers can hold him. In other words a catcher has never been found who is able to catch all of the balls that he has thrown. He is a southpaw and is said to be so strong in the left that balls thrown from his hand travel almost like lightning.

It is stated that Ormes went out to Oklahoma City and soon obtained a position in a "bush" league. He did not hold it long, however. A catcher could not be procured who would hold the balls he would throw and a few there were who would not even catch while he was pitching, so it is said. Local fans have it that Ormes is a real "find" and that he will break into one of the big leagues before many years have elapsed. They say that all he needs is a good catcher and that he will do wonders.

MARRIAGE LICENSE.

A marriage license was issued this afternoon to Hayden H. Waggoner of Shelby county and Melissa Aldridge.

REVIVAL OPENS WITH BIG CROWD

First Meeting is Auspiciously Started in Campaign to be Waged For Two Weeks.

LARGE CHOIR IS A FEATURE

Evangelist Orr Announces Stone
Rolling Will be Held Tonight—
Meetings This Afternoon.

Assured of success on the eve of its beginning, the two weeks' revival meeting to be conducted by the Rev. W. W. Orr, opened in the tabernacle last evening with a crowd that almost filled the large structure. The number of people has been estimated at fifteen hundred while that is considered very conservative by enthusiastic promoters of the meeting who have been working diligently on the committees. One hundred and fifty were in the choir and an effort will be made to make that even larger.

"We are beginning a campaign," said Evangelist Orr in a few preliminary remarks before his sermon, "not one of fun and amusement, but I predict that you will get more fun and amusement out of this than you ever did serving the devil. We are beginning a campaign for lost souls, and to be successful I must be assisted by everyone. Will you help me? I am long, but I am not long faced. You may laugh when you please."

The Rev. Mr. Orr announced that he would hold two meetings each day, one in the afternoon at three for an hour and one in the evening at seven-thirty. He said that he gave his word that the sermons would be closed when the clock struck four. The church will be discussed at the afternoon meetings, he said.

"A great many people touch a revival with the tip end of their fingers," said the evangelist. "We must believe in revivals in order to make them a success. Don't be prejudiced against them. You must want a revival and you must all enter into it in the right spirit if you would win Rushville for Christ. You must get ready for it. I realize that you people of Rushville have done much already by preparing this tabernacle and by organizing the workers of the various churches. You must remember that you can not attend so many social functions and can not attend to so much business and carry on a successful revival."

The Rev. Mr. Orr explained that all of the churches of today were born during a revival. He said that a revival had been the beginning of nearly every great religious organization.

Evangelist Orr preached a short sermon on Christ's inability to save himself after he had saved the world. He eloquently described the scenes on Cavalry Hill when Christ together with two robbers was crucified. "There are three reasons why Christ could not accept the challenge of the Jews, that he could save others, but could not save himself," declared the speaker.

The evangelist pointed out that Christ would have been a vow breaker had He saved Himself from the cruel death on the cross after having shouldered the sins of the world. Secondly, the evangelist asserted, He could not save Himself because He took the sins of the world and He could not enter heaven without dying.

"Life for life is a universal principle," said the Rev. Mr. Orr. "Christ could not save the world and save Himself. So it is you can not save others and save yourself. That is the reason so many persons in this world never amount to anything. They are not willing to give themselves. It is illustrated in nature and it is illustrated on every hand, a life Continued on page eight.

BANISH THOSE GRAY HAIRS!

Kill the Dandruff Germs—Stop Hair Falling

Thousands of mothers are looking younger.—Their gray hairs are gone. The natural color has come back, and with it a new growth of soft, glossy, luxuriant hair. Why should you look old before your time, when you can look years younger by using

It Is Positively Guaranteed to Restore Faded and Gray Hair to Natural Color

If other "so-called" Restorers have failed, don't give up hope, but give WYETH'S SAGE AND SULPHUR HAIR REMEDY a trial. You run no risk. If it is not exactly as represented, your money will be refunded.

PROFIT BY OTHERS' EXPERIENCE

Gray Hair Restored

My hair was getting quite gray and falling out rapidly and I was troubled with a terrible itching of the scalp. My head was full of dandruff, which fell upon my clothes and kept me continually brushing it off. While on a visit to Rochester I heard of your Sage and Sulphur for the hair. I got a bottle and used it. A few applications relieved the itching, my hair stopped falling out and gradually came back to its natural color. It is now a nice dark brown color, soft, glossy and pliable. Several of my friends want to use it, and I want to know what you will charge me for six bottles of it.

MISS E. A. ROSS,
Sharon, Mercer Co., Pa.

Grew Hair on a Bald Head

For two or three years my hair had been falling out and getting quite thin until the top of my head was entirely bald. About four months ago I commenced using Sage and Sulphur. The first bottle seemed to do some good and I kept using it regularly until now I have used four bottles. The whole top of my head is fairly covered and keeps coming in thicker. I shall keep on using it a while longer, as I notice a constant improvement.

Buying Up-to-Date Goods

No woman likes to feel that she is buying old, shopworn, out-of-date goods.

She wants goods which are new and fresh, especially in articles of wear and ornamentation.

The store in which you trade largely determines what kind of goods you are buying.

If you trade in stores which do a small amount of business, you may rest assured that your merchant is always carrying goods which are two or three seasons out-of-date.

Such a merchant depends upon people coming to his store and searching through the stock to find out what they want.

The bright advertising merchant goes at it in another way.

He doesn't wait for people to dig through the stock to find his goods, but he uses space in the newspapers to tell all the people about his goods.

Advertising makes it easy for them to know about his wares, brings him immediate buyers and he sells his stock over and over again.

It doesn't get a chance to get stale—out-of-date.

Therefore, if you want to feel that the goods you are buying are right in style, quality and price, you should patronize the merchants who advertise.

WILL NOW GO TO HIGHEST COURT

Marion Saloon Contention to Be Finally Tested.

LICENSES HAVE BEEN DENIED

Refusal of the County Commissioners to Grant Licenses in City Which Recently Voted Wet Has Put the Matter in Shape For the Courts and the Case Will Be Carried to the State Supreme Court.

Marion, Ind., June 8.—The Grant county commissioners have sustained the remonstrances against the thirty-one liquor license applicants in Marion and denied licenses. The twenty-one applicants, that number being the limit of saloons fixed for Marion, will appeal immediately to the circuit court. The definite action of a refusal of licenses was regarded favorably by the "wets," who feared the commissioners would refuse to act. The applicants express confidence of winning in the circuit court. The "drys" will fight the appeals to the higher courts.

ECHO OF OTHER DAYS

Death of Former Slave Recalls Famous "Underground Railroad."

Noblesville, Ind., June 8.—John Burtwell, colored, one of the oldest persons who was born in slavery, is dead here. According to the best evidence obtainable, when a guardian was appointed for him recently, he was 112 years old.

For many years before the war he was a cook on a Mississippi river steamer. One day the boat anchored at Lawrenceburg and Burtwell was sent ashore for a bucket of water. He never returned to the boat, but walked all the way to Westfield, this county, which was then famous as an underground railroad station. Although his master made several trips to Westfield in search of him, that well-known Quaker community always protected him. He was never married. He worked at the barber trade for sixty years. Last winter his home was destroyed by fire, and since that time the old man has been an object of charity.

DEADLY COLLISION

Speeding Motorcycle Dashes Into a Horse and Buggy at South Bend.

South Bend, Ind., June 8.—Michael O'Tolski is dead and Stanley Szybowski seriously hurt as a result of a motorcycle accident. The machine, driven by O'Tolski, struck a horse and buggy driven by Robert Bennett. Szybowski was riding on the tank of the motor, and in the crash was thrown over the horse's head. He suffered a broken rib and other injuries. O'Tolski's skull was fractured.

HEROIC GIRL

Risked Her Own Life to Save Child From Death.

Hammond, Ind., June 8.—Clara Stefowski, aged fourteen, rescued the infant child of Felix Macervitz from death under the hoofs of a galloping team and was trampled by the horses. The girl dashed in front of the horses and got the child out of the way, but was knocked down and probably fatally injured. There were four men in the vehicle which ran over her. No arrests have been made.

Night Riders Disappointed.

Hope, Ind., June 8.—Four night-riders visited the barn of John and Roy Miller, near here, the night after they had shipped their crop of 2,000 pounds of tobacco to Madison. They were seen by Henry Holder, who asked them their business, and was told to attend to his own, strictly and attentively. This was the first crop the Millers have raised, and they say it will be the last.

County Superintendents to Meet.

Indianapolis, June 8.—Edson B. Barber, superintendent of the schools of Kosciusko county, and president of the State Association of County Superintendents, is in the city to complete arrangements for the midsummer meeting of the association, which will be held here June 27-28. The program will be given chiefly to a discussion of the school work for next year.

Walked in Front of Car.

Warsaw, Ind., June 8.—Mrs. Pearl Canaan, aged twenty-eight, of New Paris, was instantly killed by a Winona Interurban car. It is supposed to be a case of suicide, as she was walking toward the car and had ample time to leave the track after being warned by the motorman, who was unable to reverse the power in time to prevent the accident.

Suicide of an Octogenarian.

Muncie, Ind., June 8.—Mary Jane Cummings, aged eighty-four, killed herself. A scarf was found knotted tightly about her throat. Her mind had been failing for some time.

Another Victim of Lightning.

Effingham, Ill., June 8.—Russell Young was killed by lightning while plowing near Dexter.

JUDGE GARY TELLS OF THE OTHER SIDE OF IT

Frick Was First to Suggest Steel Trust, He Says.

Washington, June 8.—Testifying before the Stanley committee of the house, Judge E. H. Gary, chairman of the executive committee of the United States Steel corporation told a far different story of the inception and organization of the concern from that imparted to the investigators recently by J. W. Gates.

Mr. Gates said that J. P. Morgan, fearing that Andrew Carnegie was about to invade the railroad field of the country and extend his steel manufacturing activities along new lines with demoralizing results in both directions, conceived the plan of consolidating the big steel interests of the country and eliminating the ironmaster of Pittsburgh. Judge Gary, on the other hand, told the committee that the first suggestion came, not from Mr. Morgan, but from Henry C. Frick, and that the purpose was solely to develop a well-rounded steel plant.

Judge Gary added that until he read the testimony of Gates he had never heard of any purpose on Mr. Carnegie's part to extend his lines in the steel business by building a tube mill. A bored look chased itself over the countenance of Judge Gary every time reference was made to the tale told by Mr. Gates of the organization of the steel corporation. The testimony of Judge Gary took a wide range. He was on the stand six hours. He traced the organization of the steel company, reviewed its acquisition of other concerns from time to time, again insisted that close federal control over corporations was imperative in the interests of the public, eulogized J. P. Morgan, and said Mr. Roosevelt's "tacit acquiescence" of the merging of the Tennessee Coal and Iron company with the steel corporation showed Roosevelt to be a conservative statesman.

Mr. Hargreaves and Miss Bryan have been sweethearts from their school days.

SIX CANDIDATES FOR THE FEDERAL PRISON

Began Their Journey to Leavenworth Today.

Indianapolis, June 8.—United States Marshal E. H. Schmidt and Deputy Alonzo Boyd took six federal prisoners to the Leavenworth prison today. The prisoners include all sentenced on pleas of guilty or after trials on indictments returned at the May session of the federal grand jury.

Among them is Edward M. Shell, commission merchant of Fort Wayne, who pleaded guilty to using the mails in commission frauds, and who was sentenced for one year. Others who were taken to Leavenworth are William Linnegar, counterfeiter, of Indianapolis, sentenced for ten years; Adam Rackie, counterfeiter, of Gary, sentenced for ten years; Leo Labodie of South Bend, postoffice robber, who goes for five years; Alador Galsoszy of Lake county, sentenced for one year for a fraudulent attempt to obtain naturalization papers, and John H. Belcher of South Bend, sentenced for one year for taking used stamps from letters and affixing them to other letters. Belcher was a rural route carrier. Linnegar, Rackie and Labodie are "old offenders."

TOO MUCH FOR JUDGE

Threatened a Gum-Chewing Woman With Jail For Contempt.

South Bend, Ind., June 8.—Mrs. John Williams, wife of a chef in a local hotel, narrowly escaped going to jail for contempt of court because she persisted in chewing gum in the presence of Judge G. A. Farabaugh. She was in court to prosecute her husband for assault and battery. The case fell through and the woman was reprimanded by the judge for filing it without good grounds. She sat unmoved, but chewed a wad of gum while the court was speaking. The judge ordered her to take the gum out of her mouth. She did not comply until threatened with a jail sentence for contempt of court.

RACES ON JULY 4th ONLY.

The management of the Indianapolis Speedway has announced that hereafter the annual race at the Speedway would be held on July 4. The details of the race that will be an annual event have not been worked out, but will be announced later. At the request of the G. A. R. the Speedway management has decided that in the future it will not hold a big race on May 30 or do anything that will in any way overshadow the Memorial day tribute paid to the soldier dead.

HIS FACE IS A SIGHT

Roy Huffman of Lewisville Seeks Justice After Encounter.

Clinton Poer of near Lewisville has been charged in circuit court with malicious mayhem and assault and battery with intent to commit a felony as the result of a scrap with Roy Huffman last Friday, says the New Castle Courier. Huffman's face looks like he had butted into an interurban car or a railroad train. Both eyes are conspicuously draped in mourning and his nose was broken. Poer, who was arrested today, gave bond for his appearance in the sum of $1,000.

AMUSEMENTS

"Nothing succeeds like success," is an adage that has proven its truthfulness with the Murat Stock Company now playing a summer's engagement at the Shubert Murat theater in Indianapolis. "Barbara Frietche," the initial production and the current play "Mary Jane's Pa" has served to establish this capable organization on such a firm foundation that their success for the ten weeks' engagement is assured.

The fact that this company is offering productions entirely new and presenting them in a manner equaling the original presentation at two dollar prices, both from a scenic investiture and histrionic adequacy at one quarter the price seems hardly plausible, but the laudatory criticisms from both press and patrons substantiates the veracity of the statement.

Following "Mary Jane's Pa," the company will offer for one week, starting June 12, with matinees Wednesday, Thursday and Saturday. "The Great John Ganton," a dramatization of Arthur J. Eddy's famous novel of the Chicago packing houses, Ganton & Company. This play, one of the most powerful dramas of the past decade will be presented with the same exactness of detail that attended the original performance when produced in Chicago and New York two seasons ago.

A noteworthy feature of the Stock Company is the elaborate manner in which the pieces are staged and costumed, no detail being overlooked by the management or expense spared to give the public the most perfect productions ever offered at popular prices.

The twenty-five cent matinees with all the seats reserved is proving a boon to out-of-town shoppers who will find the big auditorium with its cool, refreshing atmosphere an ideal place to rest and enjoy an afternoon before returning to the interurban home. Seats may be engaged for all performances one week in advance, and will be held for matinees until 2:00 p. m. and for evening performances until 8:00 p. m. on the day for which reservation has been made.

 * POINTERS FOR MOTORISTS. * *****

Rust is an enemy of rubber. It will pay the motorist to inspect occasionally the condition of the rims on the wheels of his car, especially if the outer surfaces of the envelopes near the beads look rusty. This discoloration is rust caused by rusted rims. This rust if not arrested will gradually eat through the rubber, attacking the canvas of the envelope. In time the edges of the rusted rims will become more and more uneven, tearing and eventually destroying the beads. Furthermore rust works in between the beads and the rims leaving space for water which also damages the rubber.

To remove rust from a rim, the tire should be taken off and the rusty parts rubbed clean with coarse emery paper. Then smooth the surface with finer emery paper and re-japan the rim, applying one coat to the outside and two to the inside, making sure first that the surface is smooth, and free from dust. Roughness may be quickly detected by running the hand along the edge of the rim. When the edge of the rim is too uneven for the use of emery paper, first use a file after which emery paper may be used for finishing.

Housework Drudgery

Housework is drudgery for the weak woman. She brushes, dusts and scrubs, or is on her feet all day attending to the many details of the household, her back aching, her temples throbbing, nerves quivering under the stress of pain, possibly dizzy feelings. Sometimes rest in bed is not refreshing, because the poor tired nerves do not permit of refreshing sleep. The real need of weak, nervous women is satisfied by Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

It Makes Weak Women Strong and Sick Women Well.

This "Prescription" removes the cause of women's weaknesses, heals inflammation and ulceration, and cures those weaknesses so peculiar to women. It tranquilizes the nerves, encourages the appetite and induces restful sleep.

Dr. Pierce is perfectly willing to let every one know what his "Favorite Prescription" contains, a complete list of ingredients on the bottle-wrapper. Do not let any unscrupulous druggist persuade you that his substitute of unknown composition is "just as good" in order that he may make a bigger profit. Just smile and shake your head! Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cures liver ills.

The government paid $2,450 for a portrait of ex-Secretary Day, but it remains to be seen whether it looks any more like him than an enlarged photograph costing $10.

The Democratic idea of tariff legislation is that it pays to throw a man out of work in order to buy what he produces a few cents cheaper.

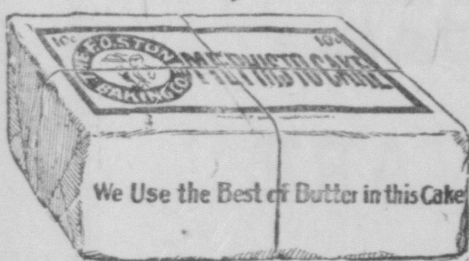

J. J. Hill, finding the Burlington road awkwardly situated in his side vest pocket, thinks under the new decision he can legally keep it in his trousers pocket, where he can get at it in his trousers pocket, where he can get at it more handily.

Chocolate Cake

The best results are obtained by using sour milk and soda, if the correct amount of soda is used. Too much will cause the cake to fall when baking or crumble when cut.

If good butter and a high grade of chocolate are used and the cake is not scorched in baking, there are few cakes to equal the good, old-fashioned chocolate cake or "Devil's Food."

Should Mr. Wickersham's prophecy be realized, we would like to spend our vacation on the lawn in front of the jail, feasting our eyes on the luxurious sight of a few trust magnates behind the bars.

The steel trust investigating committee should not be satisfied with looking over the illustrated gift books on Andy Carnegie's parlor table, but should demand a sight of his vest pocket memorandum books.

Our old friend Cip Castro is getting ready for an armed descent on Venezuela. As it is hot weather to go to moving picture shows down there, the country is probably ripe for a revolution.

It has cost the Steel trust $200,000 to answer the government's demands for information, while if they had declined to answer they would perhaps have been stuck only $10 and costs for contempt.

Charles P. Taft was presented to King George the other day. Some people supposed they talked about international law and arbitration, but more likely Charley asked him if his wife had tried the new fireless cooker.

A fellow has been arrested at Juarez for trying to blow up Francisco Madero with a bomb. Mr. Madero may soon wish he had remained at home hoeing potatoes day times and watering the geraniums in the evening.

The National Brewers Association has been so kind as to present the Daily Republican with a pamphlet entitled "Local Option in Australasia." At first glance it appears to be Australia. It makes little difference whether it is that or China, it makes no difference to Rush county whether or not local option is a success in some far off clime. We are told on the first page of the pamphlet that the country has a area larger than the United States. The book enlightens us on one subject and serves to brush us up a little on geography, but we can not see where it does any more good. The people of Rush county are not interested in local option elsewhere with the exception of Rush county. The farmers of the county know that they were disfranchised by the last legislature and there is nothing more about local option to be known here.

This season is a promising one for fruit, which will be a welcome break in the recent succession of bad years. In case the favorable prospects are realized, two large sections of the community, the fruit growers and the ultimate consumers, would like to know if they are to get a fair deal. In years of fruit abundance it is said that any surplus that threatens to reduce prices is thrown away by the large dealers. At the same time orchardists find it hard to get a living price, and occasionally fruit is allowed to rot on the ground. Yet the man with the market basket finds scarcely any change in current prices. Methods of preserving fruit for domestic use have been improved, and a large supply provided in this way would materially cut down the cost of food and add to its healthy variety. Any waste of fruit is an economic reproach and is entirely needless.

There is a protective duty on fruit, and under its operation the supply of citrus varieties is both better and cheaper than when importations were the reliance. As for apples foreign specimens would be a curiosity. Our own apples are unapproachably best, and are exported by hundreds of thousands of barrels annually. The price of apples in the general markets has been much advanced on account, it is stated, of short crops. Will a full crop better the situation for the consumer, who is so often told that higher prices are the result of a "robber tariff," and who is advised to vote for free trade, as if the loss of his job would enable him to cope more successfully with the cost of living. Let the marketing of the fruit crop this year, if the large yield expected is realized, be scrutinized closely all the way between the orchards and the pantries. Some of the links in the chain will certainly bear watching.

EDITORIALETTES.

'Tis said that Burnsville, Bartholomew county, is some warm place.

We see that Greensburg refers to our friend, Hyman Schatz as Mr. Schlutz. We suggest that he object to such misuse of the English language.

They say that if it is impossible to kill 'em in Mexico by war, earthquakes are very good substitutes.

We will have to call the esteemed Jacksonian to account for a statement which was made in their sheet yesterday. They made two errors which reduces their batting average to one minus nothing. They stated in a story about council meeting on Tuesday night that A. B. Flinn petitioned the council "that a seal on the east side of Perkins street, the property of the Republican Company, next to their building, be removed, as it was unsightly and unlawful." As a matter of fact, the Republican building is not on the east side of Perkins street. The whole world knows that. And we would have the Jack, understand that we have had some pretty weighty matters to handle, but that we were never compelled to call on insignificant scales.

Scales—such a story could hardly be anything but fishy.

And you may recall if you ever visited the garden spot of Rushville, the corner of Second and Perkins street, where everything is immaculate, that there really is a pair of scales in front of Hiner's livery barn.

The following communication was received at the Daily Republican this afternoon: "Rather strange that we should hear so much about 'clean-up day' from a certain quarter and then the police be called to make 'em clean up their premises.'"

That appeared in the Daily Jacksonian last night. Of course, there is no signature to the clipping which was sent to the Daily Republican. We take it that the person who mailed that clipping was too little to bring it to the office himself. Anyway it must be a sorehead and we delight in taking a rap at a sorehead.

However, we would much prefer to have such communications stuck under the door before seven o'clock in the morning. Takes no postage that way, yo' know. Try and remember that, ole top' the next time you have any word to send us.

We see that the use of the handkerchief should be abolished. Back to the old-fashioned methods.

SPLINTER PRICK CAUSES DEATH

Matthew Arbuckle, 73 Years Old, a Native of Rush County, Expires in Morgan County.

WAS BORN NEAR THIS CITY

Two Months Ago Retired From Active Business as Real Estate Dealer in Indianapolis.

Blood poisoning, developing from a small splinter being run in his hand caused the death of Matthew Arbuckle, seventy-three years old, a native of Rush county, at the home of his daughter, Mrs. M. E. Butler, living in Morgantown, Morgan county, south of Indianapolis. Mr. Arbuckle was a pioneer real estate dealer of Indianapolis and only recently retired from active business life.

The funeral services were held at the Memorial Presbyterian church in Indianapolis this afternoon and the body was buried in Crown Hill cemetery there. The Rev. Frank O. Ballard, pastor of the church, officiated at the services.

Mr. Arbuckle went to the home of his daughter about two months ago in search of better health. He had been ill for about a year before giving up his real estate business in Indianapolis. The sickness was practically the result of the apparently insignificant injury to his finger when a splinter was run into it. Blood poisoning developed and other complications arose which terminated in his death yesterday.

Mr. Arbuckle, who had been engaged in the real estate business in Indianapolis continuously from 1865 up to the time of his illness last year, was a recognized authority on realty values in Indianapolis and was familiar with every plat of ground within the limits of that city. It was said that Mr. Arbuckle, at the time of his retirement from the business, was one of the oldest real estate men in Indianapolis in point of service.

Mr. Arbuckle was born near this city. When he was 12 years old, he moved with his parents to a farm in Shelby county. He remained there until the beginning of the civil war when he went to Indianapolis and entered the real estate business with a partner. Later he assumed control of the business and operated it until one year ago under the name of the M. Arbuckle Agency. A son, Fred Arbuckle has had charge of the business as owner since his father's illness.

A widow, Mrs. Mary E. Arbuckle, of Indianapolis; the daughter, at whose home Mr. Arbuckle died; a son, Fred Arbuckle, and one brother, B. M. Arbuckle of Atlanta, Ga., survive.

SEEKS SITES FOR FISH HATCHERIES

State Fish and Game Commissioner
Plans to Locate "Farms" to Produce Trout.

MAY BE IN NORTHERN LAKES

George W. Miles, State fish and game commissioner next week will start to find a location for the proposed new fish hatcheries which are planned for Indiana. As soon as the hatcheries are established and produce fish the Indiana streams will abound in trout, a species which sportsmen long have desired.

Mr. Miles has no definite information as to what part of the State the hatcheries will be established. It is probable, however, that a place for hatching bass will be installed in the northern Indiana lakes, but the trout hatchery will be located in a spring-fed pond.

In addition to the trout and bass, it is the plan to hatch walleyed pike for the streams and lakes of Indiana. Mr. Miles has been in Michigan and Wisconsin for two weeks studying the fish hatcheries in those States. In Michigan the State expended $93,221.67 in fish hatcheries last year, and the Wisconsin officials expended about $150,000.

INDIANAPOLIS TO THE RESCUE

Contributions From That City Swell Earlham Debt Fund by $1,365.

TOTAL NOW STANDS AT $32,903

Only Seventeen Pledges Are Procured Making the Average $80, the Highest Yet.

Indianapolis again came to the rescue of the Earlham debt fund today, sending the total from $31,538 to $32,903, a clear gain of $1,365.

Every dollar of this increase came from Indianapolis, which has already given liberally. Only seventeen pledges are represented in the Indianapolis gift, the average pledge being about $80. There were six pledges of $100 each and one pledge of $500.

Only two days remain of the general campaign which was to precede the final ten-day campaign in Richmond and Wayne county. The impossibility of covering so much territory in the time allotted, however, has determined Chairman Pearson and his advisory committee upon the wisdom of continuing the general campaign in connection with the Richmond and Wayne county campaign until the last minute. When the fate of the campaign is determined on June 21 there will have been nothing left undone which might have contributed to the success of the movement. Win or lose, no opportunity for freeing Earlham from its $50,000 debt will have been overlooked.

On next Monday, if the present plan is followed, the campaign will be begun in Richmond and Wayne county. They are expected to help materially in making the State-wide canvass a success.

AMUSEMENTS

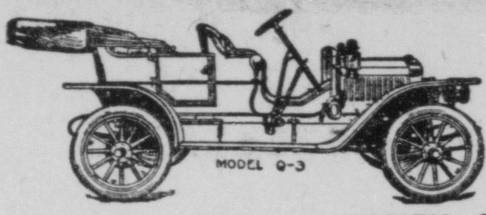

The Palace will show as the first film tonight an Essanay, "An Orphan's Plight." It is said to be a heart touching dramatic story of unusual excellence. The other film is a Pathe, "The White Squaw." This picture of western life is said to be different from the ordinary western drama and tells an interesting story. A new song will be sung.

The Vaudet will show two reels of pictures this evening, one of them a Reliance. It is entitled "Pallid Hues in Clouded Skies." The picture is said to tell a dramatic story of life as it really is. The story is acted by the all-star stock company of players which has already gained a reputation among five-cent theater goers here. The Lucia Comerio film, "Gathering Oranges in Palestine" is a scientific production that is very instructive. Leon Maxey will sing "I Just Can't Help From Liking You."

The Star Grand Airdome will present two reels of films tonight. The first is an Imp entitled "Sweet Memories." This is a story of a loving young couple who recall happy days in mother's mind. She is dreaming, dreaming of never to be forgotten days, her courtship; the duel; motherhood; her awakening. It is a beautiful romantic love story. The second picture is a Bison entitled "Her Prisoner." Bud, a rejected suitor, tries to force his unwelcome attentions upon Mattie. Later her sweetheart Ned, thrashes Bud, who waylays and shoots Ned. He staggers back to the home and as he is being cared for by Mattie, Bud peeks in the window. The girl grabs Ned's gun, and jumping on a horse, pursues Bud, captures him and turns him over to the sheriff. She takes her place at Ned's bedside and becomes a gentle nurse. Note—If rain, will show in the theater.

CHAPTER XXI.

The Marshal of Sheridan.

It was called a depot merely through courtesy, consisting of a layer of cinders, scattered promiscuously so as to partially conceal the underlying mud, and a dismantled box car, in which presided ticket agent and telegrapher. A hundred yards below was the big shack where the railroad officials lodged. Across the tracks blazed invitingly the "First Chance" saloon. All intervening space was crowded with men, surging aimlessly about in the glare of a locomotive head light, and greeting the alighting passengers with free and easy badinage. Stranger or acquaintance made no difference, the welcome to Sheridan was noisily extended, while rough play and hoarse laughter characterized the mass.

Hope paused on the step, even as Dr. Fairbairn grasped her hand, dinned by the medley of discordant sounds, and confused by the vociferous jam of humanity. A band came tottering down the street in a hack, a fellow, with a voice like a fog horn, howling on the front seat. The fellows at the side of the car surged aside to get a glimpse of this new attraction, and Fairbairn, taking quick advantage of the opportunity thus presented, swung his charge to the cinders below. Bending before her, and butting his great shoulders into the surging crowd, he succeeded in pushing a passage through, thus finally bringing her forth to the edge of the street.

"Hey, there," he said shortly, grabbing a shirt-sleeved individual by the arm. "Where's Charlie?"

The fellow looked at him wonderingly. "Charlie? Oh, you mean the 'Kid'? Well, he ain't here ter-night; had a weddin', an' is totin' the bridal couple 'round."

Fairbairn swore discreetly under his breath, and cast an uncertain glance at the slender figure shrinking beside him. The streets of Sheridan were not over pleasant at night.

"Only hack in town is somewhere else, Miss," he explained briefly. "I reckon you and I will have to hoof it."

He felt the grip of her fingers on his sleeve. "The boys are a little noisy, but it's just their way—don't mean anything—you hang on to me, an' keep the veil down—we'll be there in the shake of a log's tail."

He helped her over the muddy crossing, and as they reached a stretch of board walk, began expatiating on the various places lining the way.

"That's the 'Mammoth' over there—dance hall back of it—biggest thing west of the Missouri—three men killed there last week—what for? Oh, they got too fresh—that's the 'Casino,' and the one beyond is 'Pony Joe's Place'—cut his leg off since I've been here—fight over a girl. Ain't there any stores?—sure; they're farther back—you see the saloons got in first—that's 'Sheeny Mike's' gambling joint you're looking at—like to go over and see 'em play? All right, just thought I'd ask you—it's early anyhow, and things wouldn't be goin' very lively yet. Say, there, you red head, what are you trying to do?"

The fellow had lurched out of the crowd in such a manner as to brush partially aside the girl's veil, permitting the glare of "Sheeny Mike's" lights to fall full upon her revealed face. It was accomplished so openly as to appear planned, but before he could reel away again, Fairbairn struck

Stop Experimenting! Take a 'Cascaret'

Nearly all our ills Come Through Inactive Liver and Bowels. Millions of Folks Keep Feeling Good With Cascarets.

One must keep the bowels clean. Do it just the same as you keep your skin clean. Not by severe applications, applied at rare intervals. But by gentle and regular efforts. It pays immensely.

Many people dread physic. They think castor oil or salts and cathartics. They shrink from the after-effects—gripping and weakness. So they postpone the dose until they are costive or bilious. Then they do the cleaning in a heroic way. That is all wrong.

Cascarets are a gentle laxative. They are just as effective as anything else, and more natural. And they are pleasant—a candy. They are made to carry with you. Take one just as soon as you need it. You'll know. The result is your bowels are always active. You always feel at your best. Try a 10 cent box of Cascarets. You'll never again go without them.

out, and the man went down. With an oath he was on his feet, and Hope cowered back against her protector. Each man had weapons drawn, the crowd scurrying madly to keep out of the line of fire, when, with a stride, a new figure stepped quietly in between them. Straight as an arrow, broad shouldered, yet small waisted as a woman, his hair hanging low over his coat-collar, his face smooth shaven except for a long moustache, and emotionless, the revolvers in his belt untouched, he simply looked at the two, and then struck the revolver out of the drunken man's hand. It fell harmless to the ground.

"And don't you pick it up until I tell you, Scott," he said quietly. "If you do you've got to fight me."

Without apparently giving the fellow another thought, he wheeled and faced the others.

"Oh, it's you, is it, Doctor? The drunken fool won't make any more trouble. Where were you taking the lady?"

"To the hotel, Bill."

"I'll walk along with you. I reckon the boys will give us plenty of room." He glanced over the crowd, and then more directly at Scott.

"Pick up your gun!" the brief words snapping out. "This is the second time I've caught you hunting trouble. The next time you are going to find it. I saw you run into this lady—what did you do for?"

"I only wanted to see who she was, Bill."

"You needn't call me Bill. I don't trot in your class. My name is Hickock to you. Was it any of your affair who she was?"

"I reckoned I know'd her, and I did."

The marshal turned his eyes toward Hope, and then back upon Scott, evidently slightly interested.

"So? Recognized an old friend, I suppose?"

The slight sneer in "Red Bill's"

DEAD STOMACH

What Use it is to Anyone.

Thousands! yes hundreds of thousands of people throughout America are murdering their own stomach, the best friend they have, and in their sublime ignorance they think they are putting aside the laws of nature.

This is no sensational statement; it is a startling fact, the truth of which any honorable physician will not deny.

These thousands of people are swallowing daily huge quantities of pepsin and other strong digesters, made especially to digest the food in the stomach without any aid at all from the digestive membrane of the stomach.

In other words, they are taking from the stomach the work that nature intended it should do, and are also refusing it the only chance for exercise it has. Miona stomach tablets relieve distressed stomach in five minutes. Taken regularly for a few weeks they build up the stomach and make it strong enough to digest its own food. Then indigestion, belching, sour stomach, headache and stomach misery go.

Mi-o-na stomach tablets are sold by F. B. Johnson & Co. and leading druggists everywhere at 50 cents a large box, and are guaranteed to cure all stomach distress or money back.

soft voice caused Scott to flame up in sudden passion.

"No, I didn't! but I called the turn just the same—she's Christie MacLaire."

The marshal smiled.

"All right, little boy," he said soberly. "Now you trot straight along to bed. Don't let me catch you on the street again to-night, and I'd advise you not to pull another gun—you're too slow on the trigger for this town. Come along, Doctor, and we'll get Miss MacLaire to her hotel."

He shouldered his way through the collected crowd, the other following. Hope endeavored to speak, to explain to Fairbairn who she actually was, realizing then, for the first time, that she had not previously given him her name. Amidst the incessant noise and confusion, the blaring of brass, and the jangle of voices, she found it impossible to make the man comprehend. She pressed closer to him, holding more tightly to his arm, stunned and confused by the fierce uproar. The stranger steadily pushing ahead of them, and opening a path for their passage, fascinated her, and her eyes watched him curiously. His name was an oddly familiar one, associated in vague memory with some of the most desperate deeds ever witnessed in the West, yet always found on the side of law and order; it was difficult to conceive that this quiet-spoken, mild-eyed, gently smiling man could indeed be the most famous gun fighter on the border, hated, feared, yet thoroughly respected, by every desperado between the Platte and the Canadian. Beyond the glare and glitter of the Metropolitan Dance Hall the noisy crowd thinned away somewhat, and the marshal ventured to drop back beside Fairbairn, yet vigilantly watched every approaching face.

"Town appears unusually lively to-night, Bill," observed the latter gravely, "and the boys have got an early start."

"West end graders just paid off," was the reply. "They have been whoopin' it up ever since noon, and are beginning to get ugly. Now the rest of the outfit are showing up, and there will probably be something interesting happening before morning. Wouldn't mind it so much if I had a single deputy worth his salt."

"What's the matter with Bain?"

"Nothing, while he was on the job, but 'Red' Haggerty got him in 'Pony Joe's' shebang two hours ago; shot him in the back across the bar. Ned never even pulled his gun."

"I'm sorry to hear that; what became of Haggerty?"

The marshal let his eyes rest questioningly on the doctor's face for an instant.

"Well, I happened to be just behind Ned when he went," he said gently, "and 'Red' will be buried on 'Boots Hill' to-morrow. I'm afraid I don't give you much chance to show your skill, Doc," with a smile.

"If they all shot like you do, my profession would be useless. What's the matter with your other deputies?"

"Lack of nerve, principally, I reckon; ain't one of 'em worth the powder to blow him up. I'd give something just now for a fellow I had down at Dodge—he was a man. Never had to tell him when to go in; good judgment too; wasn't out hunting for trouble, but always ready enough to take his share. Old soldier in our army, Captain, I heard, though he never talked much about himself; maybe you knew him—Jack Keith."

"Well, I reckon," in quick surprise, "and what's more to the point, he's here—slept in my room last night."

"Keith here? In Sheridan? And hasn't even hunted me up yet? That's like him, all right, but I honestly want to see the boy. Here's your hotel. Shall you need me any longer?"

"Better step in with us, Bill," the doctor advised, "your moral influence might aid in procuring the lady a decent room."

"I reckon it might."

They passed together up the three rickety steps leading into the front hall, which latter opened directly into the cramped office; to the left was the wide-open bar-room, clamorous and throbbing with life. A narrow bench stood against the wall, with a couple of half drunken men lounging upon it. The marshal routed them out with a single, expressive gesture.

"Wait here with the lady, Fairbairn," he said shortly, "and I'll arrange for the room."

They watched him glance in at the bar, vigilant and cautious, and then move directly across to the desk.

"Tommy," he said genially to the clerk. "I've just escorted a lady here

"Any Other Room You Could Conveniently Assign Mr.—ah—Montgomery to Tommy?"

from the train—Miss MacLaire—and want you to give her the best room in your old shebang."

The other looked at him doubtfully. "Hell, Bill, I don't know how I'm going to do that," he acknowledged. "She wrote in here to the boss for a room; said she'd be along yesterday. Well, she didn't show up, an' so to-night we let a fellow have it. He's up there now."

"Well, he'll have to vamoose—who is he?"

"Englishman—Walter Spotteswood Montgomery," consulting his book. "Hell of a pompous duck; the boys call him 'Juke Montgomery.'"

"All right; send some one up to rout his lordship out lively."

Tommy shuffled his feet, and looked again at the marshal; he had received positive orders about that room, and was fully convinced that Montgomery would not take kindly to eviction. But Hickock's quiet gray eyes were insistent.

"Here, 'Red,' he finally called to the burly porter, 'hustle up to '15,' an' tell that fellow Montgomery he's got to get out; tell him we want the room for a lady."

Hickock watched the man disappear up the stairs, helped himself carefully to a cigar out of the stand, tossing a coin to the clerk and then deliberately lighting up.

"Think Montgomery will be pleased?" he asked shortly.

"No; he'll probably throw 'Red' down stairs."

The marshal smiled, his glance turning expectantly in that direction.

"Then perhaps I had better remain, Tommy." And he strolled nonchalantly over to the open window, and stood there looking quietly out, a spiral of blue smoke rising from his cigar.

They could distinctly hear the pounding on the door above, and occasionally the sound of the porter's voice, but the straight, erect figure at the window remained motionless. Finally "Red" came down, nursing his knuckles.

"Says he'll be damned if he will—says he's gone to bed, an' that there ain't a cussed female in this blasted country he'd git up for," he reported circumstantially to the clerk. "He told me to tell you to go plumb to hell, an' that if any one else come poundin' 'round that to-night, he'd take a pot shot at 'em through the door. 'Fifteen' seemed a bit peevish, sir, an' I reckoned if he was riled up much more, he might git rambunctious; his language was sure fierce."

"Wild Bill" turned slowly around, still calmly smoking, his eyes exhibiting mild amusement.

"Did you clearly inform Mr.—ah—Montgomery that we desired the room for the use of a lady?" he questioned gently, apparently both pained and shocked.

"I did, sir."

"It surprises me to find one in our city with so little regard for the ordinary courtesies of life, Tommy. Perhaps I can persuade the gentleman."

He disappeared up the stairs, taking them deliberately step by step, the cigar still smoking between his lips. "Red" called after him.

"Keep away from in front of the door, Bill; he'll shoot sure, for he cocked his gun when I was up there."

Hickock glanced back, waved his hand.

"Don't worry—the room occupied by Mr.—ah—Montgomery was '15,' I believe you said."

Whatever occurred above, it was over with very shortly. Those listening at the foot of the stairs heard the first gentle rap on the door, an outburst of profanity, followed almost instantly by a sharp snap, as if a lock had given way, then brief scuffling mingled with the loud creaking of a bed. Scarcely a minute later the marshal appeared on the landing above, one hand firmly gripped in the neck-band of an undershirt, thus securely holding the writhing, helpless figure of a man, who swore violently every time he could catch his breath.

"Any other room you could conveniently assign Mr.—ah—Montgomery to, Tommy?" he asked pleasantly. "If he doesn't like it in the morning, he could be changed, you know."

"Give—give him '47.'"

"All right. I'm the bell-boy temporarily, Montgomery; easy now, my man, easy, or I'll be compelled to use both hands. 'Red,' carry the gentleman's luggage to '47—he has kindly consented to give up his old room to a lady—come along, Montgomery."

It was possibly five minutes later when he came down, still smoking, his face not even flushed.

"Montgomery is feeling so badly we were obliged to lock him in," he reported to the clerk. "Seems to be of a somewhat nervous disposition. Well, good-night, Doctor," he lifted his hat. "And to you, Miss, pleasant dreams."

Hope watched him as he stepped outside, pausing a moment in the shadows to glance keenly up and down the long street before venturing down the steps. This quiet man had enemies, hundreds of them, desperate and reckless; ceaseless vigilance alone protected him. Yet her eyes only, and not her thoughts, were riveted on the disappearing marshal. She turned to Fairbairn, who had risen to his feet.

"I wish I might see, him, also," she said, as though continuing an interrupted conversation.

"See him? Who?"

"Mr. Keith. I—I knew him once, and—and, Doctor, won't you tell him I should like to have him come and see me just—just as soon as he can."

TAFT TO VISIT INDIANAPOLIS

Will Be Guest of Marion Club July 4 If Plan Works Out.

TO TALK ON RECIPROCITY

Unless Pet Bill Has Fair Sailing in Congress by That Time, the President Will Seize Occasion of His Indiana Trip to Extend His Remarks to the Country on Subject Which He Holds Close to Heart.

Washington, June 8.—It is semi-officially announced that President Taft expects to spend July 4 in Indianapolis as the guest of the Marion club if the way is clear at that time. The Indianapolis trip will not include any other engagement. At one time the president hoped to be able to go to the National Soldiers home at Marion on July 4, but some days ago he notified a committee from the State Bankers' association, which planned to give a banquet for him at Marion, that he could not be present.

He does intend to try to visit Marion and the National Soldiers' home in September. The tentative arrangement for the Indianapolis trip provides that the president and his party shall leave here on the afternoon of July 3 and reach Indianapolis during the forenoon of July 4. He will spend the afternoon in the city, probably as the guest of Charles W. Fairbanks, and in the evening will be the guest at a banquet given by the Marion club. He will leave there on the night of July 4 and reach here during the forenoon of July 5.

The president intends to talk reciprocity at Indianapolis unless by the date of his visit he shall be convinced that the reciprocity treaty has plain sailing in the senate.

DIGGING THE GARDEN

Virginia Police Believe They Have Another Guinness Case.

Norfolk, Va., June 8.—Men have begun digging up the earth expecting to find more bodies buried in or near the garden of Mrs. Minnie Murdock, accused of murdering Harry O. Davis, whose badly battered body was dug up from an onion patch that surrounds the woman's home at Deep Creek. In her cell in the county jail Mrs. Murdock declares she did not kill Davis and laughs at the stories that the police expect to solve the disappearance of at least three other men by digging up the earth around her home.

An Indiana Man Missing.

The police say that three men have disappeared within the last three and a half years, and all of them had been associated with the woman. One of them, a G. A. R. veteran from Indiana, came here during the Jamestown exposition and was seen once around Deep Creek, but never again. The police found among the woman's effects letters showing that she corresponded with matrimonial bureaus and received letters from men all over the country, several of whom wrote that they would come here to visit her.

CAN'T SPARE HIM

Minister Furniss Has Been Importuned to Remain in Hayti.

Washington, June 8.—It is probable that H. W. Furniss, colored, United States minister to Hayti, will continue in office for several months yet. The minister, who at the time he entered the consular service some years ago, was a practicing physician in Indianapolis, desired to return to his home and voluntarily resigned several weeks ago. He had made an excellent record in the service as a consul at Bahia, Brazil, and later as minister to Hayti. The Americans living in Hayti have petitioned the state department to retain Minister Furniss until some time after the tumultuous revolutionary troubles have passed, and it is likely that the Indiana man will be asked to withdraw his resignation.

NASHVILLE WANTS HIM

Tennessee Capital Bar Asks President's Son to Locate There.

Nashville, Tenn., June 8.—The Nashville industrial bureau has telegraphed Robert Alphonso Taft, son of President Taft, to come to Nashville, take the state bar examination and establish himself here for practice. Young Taft was unable to take the examination in Ohio because he had not registered when he began to study law, and consequently must wait two years before taking the state examination there.

No Longer Taunts Police.

Jersey City, N. J., June 8.—Through a single finger print which he unwittingly left behind him months ago, Frank Smith has been identified seemingly beyond any doubt, as the crackman who for months has been robbing mansions in millionaire's row, the most aristocratic section of Jersey City, and then writing letters to the police taunting them with their failure either to stop his operations or to catch him.

GIRLS SHOT NEW YORK MILLIONAIRE IN LEG

W. E. D. Stokes Sent to Hospital for Repairs.

New York, June 8.—W. E. D. Stokes, millionaire owner of the Ansonia hotel, was shot three times in the right leg early last evening by two young women, who say that he came to get letters written by him before he was married, last February. Mr. Stokes is in Roosevelt hospital with injuries which the doctors describe as trifling. The girls say that in the scuffle, which was carried into the hallway outside their rooms, Mr. Stokes also took a random shot at them, but he did not hit anything.

Lillian Graham, who said in the station house that she was twenty-two years old and a singer, and Ethel Conrad, three years her junior, who did not specify her occupation, were the two girls. They both stuck to the story that they had gone into the scuffle out of self-defense.

"He's a bad man," said Lillian Graham.

Stokes says Miss Graham demanded $25,000 of him. He insisted that he could not remember having written letters to Miss Graham, but said he had known her several years ago.

Co-Operation in Country Life.

White River Junction, Vt., June 8.—Colonel Roosevelt was the guest of honor at the first Vermont "Get Together" banquet held by the Windsor county committee of the Y. M. C. A. held at the Gates opera house last night before an audience of 500 citizens of New England, among whom were Governor J. A. Mead of Vermont, Governor R. T. Bass of New Hampshire, and ex-Governors F. F. Proctor and Samuel Pingree. The colonel spoke on "Co-Operation in Country Life."

CITY SHOOK AS MADERO CAME

Earthquake Marked Liberator's Entrance to Capital.

SIXTY SOLDIERS WERE KILLED

Violent Quake Demolished Several Buildings, Including the Artillery Quarters, Where the Soldiers Were Buried in the Ruins—No Civil Disturbance Attended Madero's Triumphant Entry.

Mexico City, June 8.—The earthquake here yesterday was the worst in the recent history of Mexico City. Several buildings were wrecked, including the artillery quarters, where seventy soldiers were buried in the ruins. The death list amounts to more than sixty, and more than a hundred were wounded. All perceptible shaking was over in about five minutes. The scope of the disturbance was small.

Mexico City, June 8.—Yesterday afternoon Mexico City and the surrounding country turned out en masse to welcome Francisco I. Madero, the first national hero in thirty years; the first really democratic statesman who has appeared since the days of Juarez. The celebration passed off entirely without accident. Starting with the arrival of Madero's train until Madero, from the balcony of his residence, bade farewell to the crowd of enthusiasts who had followed him and were demanding more speeches, every detail of the celebration was carried out without a hitch. The straw-hatted crowd was good-natured and there was not a single Porfirista in sight to mar the view. The only cries heard were vivas for Madero and Vasquez Gomez Orozco. Until late at night the streets were full of people, but there was no sign of trouble.

The crowd that awaited Madero was distinctly different from crowds which Mexico City is accustomed to see. There were no dress clothes, no silk hats in evidence, and the crowd along the line from the station to the palace was topped with the straw sombrero of the common people. The young men in charge of the procession were mostly poorly dressed and everything demonstrated the fact that it was the people's reception to the national hero.

Several arrests of rather prominent men were made, but the police refuse to tell on what charges they are being held. It was said that another plot was discovered to kill Madero, but the story was not to be confirmed.

TICKLISH PERFORMANCE

Swiss Aviator Stuck to Unruly Machine and Landed Safely.

Geneva, June 8.—The Swiss aviator Taddeeli, while monoplaneing at Lausanne, had trouble with his machine while 2,000 feet in the air. The machine turned two complete somersaults, each time unseating Taddeeli, but the airman managed to climb back and get control of the machine. When within 300 feet of the ground the motor suddenly stopped and the monoplane began to fall. Taddeeli hung by his hands until within ten feet of the ground, when he dropped to earth unhurt. The machine passed beyond him and was wrecked.

ALIBI SUSTAINED

Mission Worker Could Not Have Murdered Wife, Say Witnesses.

Cincinnati, June 8.—Prosecutor Hunt intends to nolle the indictment against Oliver P. Smith, charged with the murder of his wife, a mission worker. Mrs. Smith was found dead in her home here on the night of Jan. 25. She had been beaten to death. Smith was arrested at Indianapolis. He offered an alibi and a number of persons living between Aurora, Ind., and Indianapolis, testified they saw him on the road between the two cities at the time his wife was supposed to have been murdered.

for a life. There is no place for a selfish man or woman. The world is better off when they are dead. They are a curse to humanity."

As an example the Rev. Mr. Orr took imaginary grains of wheat. One, he said, rolled off down into the ground, grew into large wheat fields, was ground in the mill and served to sustain life for thousands. The other selfish grains decided to lie on the hard table all alone and not grow to help others. After the first grain has given its life, he said, to the world to save its life, we return and find that selfish grain has dried up and died. It has accomplished nothing.

"Here in your beautiful city," Mr. Orr declared, "are two thousand people who are going down to death and hell. Are we going to bring them to Christ in this revival? We are entering a campaign of great proportions. Are you willing to help?"

In closing the Rev. Mr. Orr painted beautiful word picture of a commander who sacrificed his regiment during a battle in the civil war in order to capture a fort that his general wished. The tale as he unwound it was as pathetic as it was touching and the audience was brought to a high pitch of expectancy before he concluded. No plea for lost souls was made at the close of the meeting last night.

At the end of the sermon, the Rev. Mr. Orr announced that he expected to sound the keynote of the revival at three o'clock this afternoon. "In the evening," he said, "we are going to have a stone rolling. Not a stone throwing but a stone rolling."

The singing was a feature of the meeting. It promises to be even a more entertaining as well as helpful feature after Singing Evangelist Ross becomes better acquainted with the members of the choir and they have sung together longer. Hymns of the old-fashioned variety were sung with a vim and enthusiasm that promises much for the present meeting.

The city band gave a sacred concert gratuitously last night which was greatly appreciated by the audience. The local musical organization was publically thanked both by the Rev. Mr. Orr and the singing evangelist.

At the beginning of the meeting last night, the Rev. A. W. Jamieson announced that I. & C. eastbound cars, due here at 6:43 and 7:19, would stop at the Perkins street crossing, in order to accommodate people living in the northwest part of the city who thought the distance too far to walk. This arrangement was made with the traction company. Westbound cars may also be flagged at the Perkins street crossing by those who care to ride home after the meetings each evening.
